Hi.

I regularly use www.xe.com/ucc to check currency exchange rates. Recently, however, it always claims that I did not fill in the required fields when I request a conversion.

I then tried several other currency conversion sites, and none of them worked, except for one that did not use any java-script, but that did not really offer what I was looking for.

Closer investigation shows that the problem occurs when I use Galeon, but not Mozilla. Has anyone else run into similar problems?

Thanks

Neilen
