Hey, you're right.

"Reply all" puts the list as CC, individual as "To" ---- however, the `simple' "Reply" puts only the list as recipient. This mail, for instance, was sent with "Reply", and at least I believe it's sent only to the list, and not you as an individual (as well).

So I don't need to delete the individual; I just do "Reply", and it goes (only) to the list.

Is this how it works for you as well?

Guess it's an "Outlook-thing"; isn't that where the "Reply all" goes to the list (only)? It /is/ more logical this way though, "Reply" goes to list, "Reply all" goes to list and individual ...
