I'm attempting to build a backported (to woody) source package of freeradius-9.2-4

However I've run into a problem (build script error below):

dh_strip
dh_installlogrotate
dh_installinit -n
dh_installpam --name=radiusd Unknown option: name
dh_installpam: unknown option; aborting make:  [binary-arch] Error 1

the thing is, i can build the package on another woody box. My first guess would have been that box2 (the successful one) has a newer version of dpkg which supports an option the that box1's (the unsuccessful one) older package does not. However, I checked, and both have the same version. Is there any other package which I could check for which may contain the dh_installpam script, or am I way off track with regards to the source of this problem? What other explanations might there be?

any enlightenment would be most appreciated.
