

Re: VPN server recommendation

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Debian/2005-05/3432.html>

From: Franki (franki_at_htmlfixit.com)

Date: 05/30/05

Date: Tue, 31 May 2005 03:00:28 +0800

To: debian list <debian-user@lists.debian.org>

Glenn English wrote:

> On Mon, 2005-05-30 at 18:06 +0300, Chavdar Videff wrote:

>

>

>> Is OpenVPN a good choice? Are there better alternatives?

>

>

> I've used it, and I'm completely satisfied with it.

>

> I installed it between an office in TX and my house in CO about 2 years > ago. It's used for cron job rsync backups every couple hours, email > communication, and remote admin of the site. It's worked continuously, > and it's been completely transparent. No probs at all.

>

I'll second that, I've used OpenVPN on several different layouts and it performs admirably.

Be sure that any new setup's you do are based on OpenVPN2.x as it has several improvements over older variants.

rgds

Franki

--

To UNSUBSCRIBE, email to debian-user-REQUEST@lists.debian.org

with a subject of "unsubscribe". Trouble? Contact listmaster@lists.debian.org