Hello Debian users,

I'm wondering which Debian package(s) I should install for Java plugins for opera and mozilla. Most of the documents I found on the net talk about downloading J2RE from a Sun site. Does this mean there aren't standard Debian packages which can replace Sun's Java?

Not that I don't want to use Sun's Java, but that I prefer the standard Debian way of package management if possible.

Thank you,
Ryo
