

subscribe – unsubscribe

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Debian/2005-08/3754.html>

---

From: Alvin Oga (aoga_at_mail.Linux-Consulting.com)

Date: 08/31/05

Date: Tue, 30 Aug 2005 20:52:07 -0700 (PDT)

To: debian-user@lists.debian.org

hi ya debianites

- is it just me or did the same happen to some of you too??
- i had to resubscribe to get some debian-user emails
- bunch of debian-user up until about Aug 27 22:56:58
and last one and only one at Aug 28 05:21:40
and cold-turkey till now for deb-user
and no error messages in the logs here of any incoming attempts
- in the meantime, i kept getting debian-security posts and others
- i was thinking, debian-user went down but i saw the archives had some traffic, so maybe it was a new spam filter ??
- i thought i'd try to check the "subscribe" :
  - if i'm in there, i'd be getting a i'm already subscribed
reply but it didn't flag an error
  - if i was in there, i'd get 2 deb-user posts when it starts up again ... so far only 1 of each
- oddd ... somebody needs to feed the leprichons(sp?)

and nope, i didnt unsubscribe

c ya
alvin

--

To UNSUBSCRIBE, email to debian-user-REQUEST@lists.debian.org with a subject of "unsubscribe". Trouble? Contact listmaster@lists.debian.org