

Re: php-mysql

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Debian/2005-10/0641.html>

---

From: Del Boy (delboy\_at\_hinet.ie)

Date: 10/07/05

Date: Fri, 07 Oct 2005 18:07:40 +0100
To: Mitja Podreka <mojdebian@gmail.com>

Mitja Podreka wrote:

> Bogdan Rotariu wrote:
>
>> login as root and give the following command
>>
>> apt-get install php4 mysqlserver apache2
>>
>>
> command should be
>
> apt-get install php4 mysql-server apache
>
> you could use apache2 but then I dont know where the config files are
> - probably in /etc/apache2
>
>> The configuration files for these progams you find it on:
>> /etc/httpd/ - for Apache
>> /etc/my.conf - for Mysql
>> /etc/php.ini - for php
>>
> I dont know which distribution you use, but in Debian Etch the files are > /etc/apache/httpd.conf - for Apache
> /etc/mysql/my.cnf - for Mysql
> /etc/php4/apache/php.ini
>

Hi,

The above information is correct. However, if you are new to such setups, this lot will not work 'out of the bag'. For example mysql server will only work on the server console (127.0.0.1) till you tweek /etc/my.conf etc.

if you have problems, I can send you copies of my working config files.....

Del

--

To UNSUBSCRIBE, email to debian-user-REQUEST@lists.debian.org with a subject of "unsubscribe". Trouble? Contact listmaster@lists.debian.org