I've moved up to etch and the 2.6 kernel. In the upgrade I remember selecting "dialog" as such was the best at the time. Now though, I'd like to get back to KDE (login and sessions). I was using KDE before I started the upgrade. I'm sure it's some simple little thing, but I can't seem to find it in the reeeams of reference material :-)

Re: Where's the d@mn GUI?

Thanks for thew reply Chris,

Yea, I had that in my Debian ref notes (6.4.4), but it doesn't seem to work (I didn't remember till you mentioned it). After using the cli I shutdown and rebooted. Came back up in dialog mode :-(Wondering if there was some problem with kde I used aptitude to look and found none.

Not quite sure where to look now?

Thanks again,
Lee C
