

Re: Unable to browse smb filesystem from nautilus in Gnome 2.12

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Debian/2006-03/msg03206.html>

- From: Surachai Locharoen <surachai@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 31 Mar 2006 09:56:27 +0700
-

I can't set up /etc/hosts because I use laptop which plug in to dhcp network. I don't know exact ip/name. In the past, I can browse computer name from nautil but now it is impossible. I think the problem is relate to netbios but I don't where the problem happen (on debian or on window)

On $., 2006-03-30 at 18:33 -0800, Andrew Sackville-West wrote:

On Fri, 31 Mar 2006 08:30:10 +0700
Surachai Locharoen <surachai@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

I installed libgnomevfs2-extra. I can browse other machine using numeric ip (eg 192.168.1.3) but I can't browser smb by using computer name.

is the name/address set up properly in /etc/hosts?

you should have an entry in there like this

192.168.1.3 windows-machine (or whatever name youlike)

A

Kan

On (., 2006-03-31 at 10:11 +1100, Mathias Teikari wrote:

I had the same problem after upgrading from sarge to etch.
Installing libgnomevfs2-extra fixes the problem. From a quick look at the package
respository it looks as if bzip2 and smb support was bundled with libgnomevfs2-common in sarge.

Re: Unable to browse smb filesystem from nautilus in Gnome 2.12

Was there any notification of this difference when doing a dist-upgrade?

I can't remember, but it might be an idea to mention this as part of the package config for libgnomevfs2-common or in upgrade instructions or somewhere..

Regards,
Mathias.

--

Mathias Teikari – Q-Free Australia Pty Ltd.
SW Engineer Embedded Systems

--

mathias.teikari@xxxxxxxxxx

--

Unit 17 / 1 Talavera Rd.
North Ryde 2113 NSW
Australia

--

Ph: +61 2 9887 8203
Fax: +61 2 9888 6800
Mob: +61 415 187 918

--

PGP public key ID: 1024D/AF9EEAF7 2005-01-02
PGP key fingerprint: 1E43 FD6A E195 0F53 B81B B046
9E7E B99C AF9E EAF7
Keyserver: <http://www.keyserver.net/>

--

Surachai Locharoen <surachai@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
Agilesoft Coporation Company Limited

--

Surachai Locharoen <surachai@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
Agilesoft Coporation Company Limited