Dear all,

As some of you might remember, some of the debian users on this list discussed a few weeks ago about the creation of documentation aimed at computer novices. One first step into this direction was the registration of a project with alioth (which we called novice-doc). Unfortunately the project was denied because I, as the submitter, am not a Debian developer. It was suggested by the alioth admins that with a Debian developer sponsoring the project we could get the approval before creating a package of our docs.

If there is a Debian developer interested in sponsoring this project we would appreciate the support.

I would like to point out that this project is not meant to replace or compete with other docs (like the Debian Reference), but to provide an introduction to users without (significant) prior knowledge of Debian, Linux or even computers in general.

Any comments appreciated.

Regards,
Andrei
