Hi all

My wife has run into a problem using iceweasel to access a site like 123greetings.com – none of the cards are playing a sound. She is using KDE. When she's tried using konqueror it simply borks and displays a dialog box asking whether she wants to use gxine to load the swf file. Clicking cancel crashes konqueror.

It is likely to be local to this site, but just wanted to check in with anyone else's experiences or ideas on this.

Cheers

Andy
