I assume you are clicking on something.

Tell us what you are clicking on.

Most 'icons' have properties that you can inspect.

Use right mouse --> properties and tell us what you see.

Also can you run 'xterm'?

It is possible that something in your dot files or login profile is getting in the way.

One common problem is the inclusion of NFS resources in your $PATH.

Also is this for all users or just one?

Can you add a new user test that new user?
