What is with this:

May 15 00:50:12 iam gdm[10109]: gdm_config_parse: Standard X server not found; trying alternatives

For the last week, my X sessions have been locking up hard, in no particular place, time or application. It just seizes up and does not restore itself, even after I have walked off and away for several hours. It might as well be the Blue Screen of Death. Anyone have a clue towards this error message? Thanx, Ric

Hardware? FC versions? drivers used? configuration?

Your problem doesn't sound like a GDM problem.... sound like a hardware / video driver one. But without additional information, my guess is as good as yours.
