I am trying to find a program for FC5 that will allow my users to view their old Outlook .msg emails they have in backup folders.

They need to be able to read, print and view attachments.

Does anyone know of a program that will facilitate this?

Chris,

I converted our archived Outlook emails into standard mbox format files (multi-part MIME format) using:

<http://www.matijs.net/software/msgconv/>

Then you can read the email using Thunderbird, or similar programs.

An alternative, if you still have outlook available, is to set up IMAP on a Linux server, add the account in outlook and drag the messages over. Then you can access them from any client that supports IMAP.
