It sounds like you have three options, upgrade fully to development, download and downgrade the below packages with rpm --oldpackage from packages in the FC5 repositories or backup critical data you want to save and do a clean install.

Okay : it works now. :)
Have update all the system enabling the dev repo.
Thx Jim.

Welcome to FC6T1 then.

I guess the differences between FC5 and FC6T1 are substantial enough now that running a pick and choose system for cups and company are not workable.

Does cups work now, since you took the venture?
