Here I sit, using firefox to access my gmail account directly because evolution in the last couple of weeks has been misbehaving sending mail. It's retrieving like a charm but will not send. I'd edited the darn send part until I turn blue in the face. Is anyone else having this problem? Did some yum update blow it up? Something is surely amiss as everything is configured the way gmail sez set it and nothing has changed, that I am aware of, for it to blow up. If anyone has a hint, I could sure use it. Ric

I found it!! Use smtp.googlemail.com instead of smtp.gmail.com
Found a user list full of complaints, so it wasn't ME! <whew!>

Odd. I can ping both addresses, with ping delays of 65ms for smtp.gmail.com, and 130ms for smtp.googlemail.com. Just for grins I'll see if I can send this message through googlemail. And this one via my vz account.

Cheers, Gene

People having trouble with vz bouncing email to me should add the word 'online' between the 'verizon', and the dot which bypasses vz's stupid bounce rules. I do use spamassassin too. :-)
