Same result here: 3 systems, all three hang at about 26% complete while "resolving dependencies." I let all three run for 24 hours. Lots of disk activity, but no progress. I've seen quite a few folks posting that they've run into this.

I don't have time (especially after losing a day) to dig into the code and fix it myself, so I'm sticking with F7 for awhile.

I'm finishing up the two systems I have upgraded with a lot hassle to get the packages that I need, but will leave all my other systems to Fedora 7 as well.
