

[Usability] Keyboard prefs, layouts tab

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/GNOME/2006-03/msg00275.html>

- From: Joachim Noreiko <jnoreiko@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 25 Mar 2006 11:55:30 +0000 (GMT)
-

I'm working on updating the user guide for this preference tool, and there's a few things I'd like your opinion on.

Is 'Selected Layouts' a good choice of label? I'm about to write 'To remove a layout, select it and press Remove'. But hang on... they're all selected, they're called Selected Layouts! Should we avoid overloading the word 'select' as it's so important in the interface?

Was the matter of the "separate group for each window" label resolved? The bug is still open: http://bugzilla.gnome.org/show_bug.cgi?id=308282

NEW Yahoo! Cars – sell your car and browse thousands of new and used cars online!
<http://uk.cars.yahoo.com/>

Usability mailing list
Usability@xxxxxxxxxx
<http://mail.gnome.org/mailman/listinfo/usability>