

Re: Quick gripe about gedit key bindings

Re: Quick gripe about gedit key bindings

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/GNOME/2007-06/msg00035.html>

- From: Calum Benson <Calum.Benson@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 18 Jun 2007 17:29:06 +0100
-

On Thu, 2007-06-14 at 11:49 -0500, Shaun McCance wrote:

This is the first I've heard of the Ctrl+Alt+PageUp/PageDown think. Somebody should have notified the documentation team. We can't document things if we don't know about them.

Quite agree. Although to be fair, at the time, it was the Sun docs guys who were in charge of the accessibility guide. And since they seem to have documented Ctrl+Alt+PgUp/Dn in that (as an alternative shortcut, rather than the preferred one), I'd have expected them to make sure any relevant changes got into the User Guide at the same time :/

Cheeri,
Calum.

—
CALUM BENSON, Usability Engineer Sun Microsystems Ireland
<mailto:calum.benson@xxxxxxx> GNOME Desktop Group
<http://ie.sun.com> +353 1 819 9771

Any opinions are personal and not necessarily those of Sun Microsystems gnome-list mailing list

gnome-list@xxxxxxxx
<http://mail.gnome.org/mailman/listinfo/gnome-list>