

Re: gnome – without screensaver and system sounds ?

Re: gnome – without screensaver and system sounds ?

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/GNOME/2007-12/msg00074.html>

- From: Graeme Nichols <gnichols@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 25 Dec 2007 12:24:17 +1100
-

On Tue, 18 Dec 2007, Takis Diakoumis wrote:

Hi

i have found this useful for xscreensaver under gnome–screensaver:
<http://philcrissman.com/2006/07/25/howto-add-your-xscreensavers-to-gnome-screensaver/>

Hi,

I also don't particularly like gnome–screensaver and followed the instructions in the link above but ran into a problem trying to find just where gnome–screensaver keeps it's themes so I can run the script.

Does anybody know where they are in F8? Which directory?

The other question of course is whether gnome–screensaver can be dumped altogether (rpm –e gnome–screensaver) and only keep xscreensaver.

Any ideas?

I am replying to myself and perhaps helping someone else at the same time.

The answer to the sparseness of gnome–screensaver is pretty simple as it turns out if you are on F8.

Go to

<http://www.andreas-mueller.com/mrepo/f8-i386/RPMS.updates/repoview/xscreensaver.html>
and download xscreensaver–extras–gss–5.04–1.fc8.i386.rpm

This package adds all the nice xscreensaver screens to gnome–screensaver.

—

Kind regards,

Re: gnome – without screensaver and system sounds ?

Re: gnome – without screensaver and system sounds ?

Graeme Nichols.

...

Registered Linux User 381781 (<http://counter.li.org/>)

– Any smoothly functioning technology will have the – – appearance of magic. –

Attachment: smime.p7s

Description: S/MIME cryptographic signature

gnome–list mailing list
gnome–list@xxxxxxxxx
<http://mail.gnome.org/mailman/listinfo/gnome–list>