

Saving Workspace

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/GNOME/2008-04/msg00005.html>

- From: "Michael B Allen" <ioplex@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 4 Apr 2008 23:55:43 -0400
-

Hi All,

I'm trying out GNOME after almost 10 years of WindowMaker so naturally I'm struggling.

How does one save their workspace so that the next time they login it restores all of the applications to that state? I see that there's a way to save the session when you exit but that saves whatever was running every time you exit. I want things to be set a specific way when I login so that if things get messed up I don't have to manually restore everything.

Mike

gnome-list mailing list
gnome-list@xxxxxxxx
<http://mail.gnome.org/mailman/listinfo/gnome-list>