

Re: [PATCH 2.6.18 V6] drivers: add lcd display support

---

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Kernel/2006-09/msg09066.html>

---

- From: Jan-Benedict Glaw <jbglaw@xxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sat, 30 Sep 2006 14:39:28 +0200
-

On Sat, 2006-09-30 13:22:53 +0000, Miguel Ojeda Sandonis <maxextreme@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

Patched files Index

-----
patching file drivers/Kconfig patching file drivers/lcddisplay/cfag12864b.c patching file drivers/lcddisplay/cfag12864b_image.h
patching file drivers/lcddisplay/Kconfig patching file drivers/lcddisplay/ks0108.c patching file drivers/lcddisplay/lcddisplay.c patching file drivers/lcddisplay/Makefile patching file include/linux/lcddisplay.h patching file Documentation/lcddisplay/cfag12864b patching file Documentation/lcddisplay/lcddisplay patching file Documentation/ioctl-number.txt

AFAIK, the 'D' in LCD is already an abbreviation for "display", so could we name it lcdisplay or something like that?

MfG, JBG

---

Jan-Benedict Glaw jbglaw@xxxxxxxxxx +49-172-7608481

Signature of: The real problem with C++ for kernel modules is: the language just sucks.
the second : -- Linus Torvalds

Attachment: signature.asc

Description: Digital signature