Hi everybody,

A friend of mine wanted to switch to Linux and was delighted to hear from me that there's a yahoo messenger for Linux! It's one of her dearest programs since she voice chat with her family and friends through it.

After installation, we realized that there's no voice chat in Unix Yahoo messenger! (Later I realized that it's stated on the website that the Unix version is an experimental version with NO voice chat which we overlooked.) And I do not know any replacement for it!

Anybody knows a program on Linux that can voice chat with a Windoze Yahoo messenger?

regards,

Didier
