Hi

I am new to this list as i just install redhat 9 and have an ?
about an route in the kernel routing table after i install and config my lan it seems that somehow redhat or something has add an NET route of 169.254.0.0 has anyone seen this happen before or know why it might have happen also where would i look to be able to remove this route for good thanks for any info and help

Bob
