

RedHat: RE: Init: ID "6" respawning too fast

RE: Init: ID "6" respawning too fast

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/RedHat/2003-12/1117.html>

From: James D. Parra (JamesP_at_MusicReports.com)

Date: 12/24/03

To: "Redhat-List (E-mail)" <redhat-list@redhat.com>

Date: Wed, 24 Dec 2003 10:31:25 -0800

Its mingetty giving the error : /dev/tty6: cannot open tty: Inappropriate ioctl for device.

Any clues what's happening?

James

-----Original Message-----

From: Chris Morton [mailto:cmorton@newsguy.com]

Subject: RE: Init: ID "6" respawning too fast

At Wed, 24 Dec 2003 10:19:23 -0800, you wrote

>No modem installed.

When did this start?

On installation?

Recently?

After some change in configuration?

I've seen weird things happen when the logfiles fill up the partition on which they reside.

--

redhat-list mailing list

unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@redhat.com?subject=unsubscribe>

<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>

RE: Init: ID "6" respawning too fast