

RedHat: Apache question,

Apache question,

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/RedHat/2004-02/1004.html>

From: kluu te (linuxpower_at_operamail.com)

Date: 02/25/04

To: redhat-list@redhat.com

Date: Wed, 25 Feb 2004 12:25:37 +0100

I got my Apache up and running and can access the server through my static IP address. But I want to register a domain to point to my server IP. How do I do it? Is there any annual fee to Internic or Versign? Can I maintain the domain name myself?

And do I need a DNS server locally or can I use my ISP DNS server?

--

Web-based SMS services available at <http://www.operamail.com>.

>From your mailbox to local or overseas cell phones.

Powered by Outblaze

--

redhat-list mailing list

unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@redhat.com?subject=unsubscribe>

<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>