

RE: echo command as in windows

---

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/RedHat/2006-05/msg00325.html>

---

- From: "Marc Wiatrowski" <wia@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Thu, 25 May 2006 11:58:45 -0400
-

-----Original Message-----

From: Jeffrey Beckstrom
Sent: Thursday, May 25, 2006 11:34 AM
Subject: echo command as in windows

In windows, you can do "set echo on" so that all commands in the bat file are listed. Is there a way to do the same in Linux.

Are you using bash? try running it with 'bash -x <script>'

marc

--

redhat-list mailing list
unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@xxxxxxxxxxx?subject=unsubscribe>
<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>