

Re: Red Hat updates

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/RedHat/2006-06/msg00325.html>

- From: Ed Wilts <ewilts@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 29 Jun 2006 09:39:17 -0500
-

On Thu, Jun 29, 2006 at 09:22:15AM -0400, Bliss, Aaron wrote:

Yep, basically any repository that you trust; Dag is the one I trust, have had great success using rpm's from that site.

Dag does not have RHEL binaries. He has packages that install on top of RHEL, but doesn't have RHEL itself.

.../Ed

-----Original Message-----

From: redhat-list-bounces@xxxxxxxxxxx
[<mailto:redhat-list-bounces@xxxxxxxxxxx>] On Behalf Of Esquivel, Vicente
Sent: Thursday, June 29, 2006 9:16 AM
To: Bliss, Aaron; General Red Hat Linux discussion list
Subject: RE: Red Hat updates

Grabbing the updates from places like Dag?

-----Original Message-----

From: Bliss, Aaron [<mailto:ABliss@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>]
Sent: Thursday, June 29, 2006 8:07 AM
To: Esquivel, Vicente; General Red Hat Linux discussion list
Subject: RE: Red Hat updates

I use yum to create test and production repositories.

-----Original Message-----

From: redhat-list-bounces@xxxxxxxxxxx
[<mailto:redhat-list-bounces@xxxxxxxxxxx>] On Behalf Of Esquivel, Vicente
Sent: Thursday, June 29, 2006 9:06 AM
To: General Red Hat Linux discussion list
Subject: Red Hat updates

Hello all,

Re: Red Hat updates

Can anyone share how they get updates for their test environment(non-production) systems running RHEL ES or AS?

Vince

--

Ed Wilts, RHCE
Mounds View, MN, USA
<mailto:ewilts@xxxxxxxxxx>
Member #1, Red Hat Community Ambassador Program

--

redhat-list mailing list
unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@xxxxxxxxxx?subject=unsubscribe>
<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>