

Re: RHCE Job question

---

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/RedHat/2006-11/msg00160.html>

---

- From: "Tenacious One" <tenaciousone@xxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 14 Nov 2006 06:46:37 -0500
-

Ok, hmmm, in the typical environment, anytime Unix/Linux (only singling-out that because this is after all a Linux forum) has been a player in the infrastructure, you can bet that there are at least 7 WinBlow$ servers in the mix – and if this server is more than a web server or a database server (and ESPECIALLY if it is) – why would you settle for less than 90k a year???? this most certainly applies if you're seeking a consultants position .....anywhere in the U.S, Command it! Say, "I can't and would not take that job for less than 90k", and don't because you'd be selling yourself short, don't just settle OR, offer to do that job for part-time for that amount (which is fair and reasonable) if you haven't got the cahones' to say what I would say.....not being cocky, just being real..... why go into a job if you'll be searching again even before you start?? Just my two cents.....good luck.

On 11/14/06, BERES Laszlo <beres.laszlo@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

blah blah írta:

- > Decent being at least 40,000 a year. I assume this is the right list for
- > this. If this isn't the right list could someone let me know.

Obviously it depends on your location, your job's details and many other things. For example, in Eastern Europe it's far above the usual salary.

—
BÉRES László RHCE, RHCI
senior IT engineer, trainer

—
redhat-list mailing list
unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@xxxxxxxx?subject=unsubscribe>
<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>

Re: RHCE Job question

--

/=====The One=====\
RacerX, MCP, MCPI, MCSE

Active member "170 MPH Club"

Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer/WebMaster/Web Developer
"...not all super heroes wear a cape...some ride a Suzuki GSX1300R..."

--

redhat-list mailing list

unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@xxxxxxxxxx?subject=unsubscribe>

<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>