

Res: Processor Usage and Long Running Processor Checks

---

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/RedHat/2007-05/msg00283.html>

---

- From: Marcos Aurelio Rodrigues <marsamp@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 29 May 2007 09:26:01 -0700 (PDT)
-

Systat already do that. I dont know what you want. But if you do something like:

```
sar -q
```

```
sar
```

is it help?

```
=====
Marcos Aurelio Rodrigues (d319r4t1433)
<marsamp@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
CCNA
Pueri quod semper amat Dei
=====
```

----- Mensagem original -----

De: John J. Culkin <culkinj3@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
Para: General Red Hat Linux discussion list <redhat-list@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
Enviadas: Terça-feira, 29 de Maio de 2007 13:00:51
Assunto: Processor Usage and Long Running Processor Checks

Can anyone suggest or shares some scripts that I can run via cron (hourly) that will check the processor usage (sysstat) and check for long running processes?

--- John C.

---
John J. Culkin Systems Administrator
John.Culkin@xxxxxxxxxxxxx The University of Scranton
Phone: (570) 941-7665

---
redhat-list mailing list
unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@xxxxxxxxxxxxx?subject=unsubscribe>
<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>

---

Fale com seus amigos de graça com o novo Yahoo! Messenger
<http://br.messenger.yahoo.com/>

--

redhat-list mailing list
unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@xxxxxxxxxx?subject=unsubscribe>
<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>