

A question about heap size

---

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/RedHat/2007-07/msg00127.html>

---

- From: Tommy chen <tommychen74@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 23 Jul 2007 11:45:34 +0800 (CST)
-

Hi

In our program, a huge heap (above 10GB) is needed. On our X86-64 platform, hardware provides this capability. But the program was shutdown, while it malloc about 3GB from the heap. Who tell us what is the upper limitation for gcc and red hat linux about its heap size? and how to reach this limitation?

]z)

HN

-----
çèÅNM9@±3.5G¹İb0MDö

redhat-list mailing list
unsubscribe <mailto:redhat-list-request@xxxxxxxxxxxx?subject=unsubscribe>
<https://www.redhat.com/mailman/listinfo/redhat-list>