I use Trillian for this. It's windoze software but it works perfectly with wine—and—it can work with yahoo, msn, aim, icq, and has a built-in irc client. You can see all your contacts from every service in one list. If you're not violently opposed to spending a little cash ($20), the crossover plugin includes support (I mean actual support) for this as well as almost every interesting IE plugin. Otherwise, it should work fine with the cvs wine too.
