I just received my SuSE 9.0 Pro last night and already installed it. I am very impressed. Since SuSE 6.2 I have been tinkering with Linux. With each of the releases that I have tried, I have seen more improvement but this is really great. It was getting late by the time I finished the installation so I didn't have any time to play but so far I am really impressed. I even selected on line update at install and it appeared to run with no trouble. That built in remote desktop sharing is very nice too.

Perhaps Linux is finally at the point where I might have at least some chance of converting friends
