1) This is really weird. I finally realized after much reading (and pain) that I need to get SSL installed to make MSN happy in Gaim. Done. I can now get in MSN (and have always been able to get in AIM).

HOWEVER, I've noticed something really weird. If I have both Yahoo and MSN set to log in automatically (with passwords and everything), I get in AIM about a second or two before MSN. As soon as MSN connects, it totally kills Gaim. In other words, I can't run both. Individually, they work fine, but not together. Very baffled. Thoughts?

2) Okay, I've essentially given up on getting Yahoo to work in Gaim 0.75. I've seen nothing anywhere when googling which helps, except the developers saying "wait for 0.76". I'm only slightly upset about this.

Cheers,
wmeler
