Does anyone know of a decent icqCorp client that runs under linux?

other than the one on the rusian site.

I read somewhere that older LIcq worked, but when trying to install it complains about missing some kdelibs

(guess because requires kde <= 2.2)

What I want is native tray functionality. I'd already achieved something close with this command:

kstart --window cqc* --skippager --skiptaskbar --desktop 2 --tosystray
icqcorp
