Why am I seeing so many more people here that send a message to the list requesting help, get an answer which was sent to the list and then reply to that AND Cc: the person as well?

If you must "reply to all" because you have no "reply to list" button edit the To: line so you only send to the list. It does not take that much effort.

What do you think happens when you send to the list that the person who addressed the message won't get a copy unless you Cc: them as well? They are on the list and WILL get a copy so please don't Cc: them.
