

SuSE: Re: [SLE] Where am I

Re: [SLE] Where am I

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/SuSE/2005-03/3508.html>

From: Carl E. Hartung (suselinux_at_cehartung.com)

Date: 03/30/05

To: suse-linux-e@suse.com

Date: Wed, 30 Mar 2005 13:23:54 -0500

On Tuesday 29 March 2005 11:26 pm, Brad Bourn wrote:

<snip>

> Also, just noticed something cool about kmail and mailing lists. If you > setup filters to grab mail from list A to goto folder A and tell that folder > (under folders properties) that it holds a mailing list, you can then right > click on that folder and choose 'New message to mailing list'.

<snip>

I use KMail, too. If I'm reading, say, your post to SLE and I hit the "L" key, KMail launches a reply to the list. If I hit the "R" key, however, it launches a reply to /you/. I learned that from Patrick Shanahan, btw, so all props go to him. ;-) regards,

– Carl

--

C. E. Hartung	Business Development & Support Services
http://www.cehartung.com/	carlh@cehartung.com
Dover Foxcroft, Maine, USA	Public Keys 68396713 & F8207216
Reg. Linux User #350527	http://counter.li.org/
----->>>> http://www.fsf.org/campaigns/supportlinuxbios.html <<<<-----

- application/pgp-signature attachment: stored