

Re: Syslog server

---

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Ubuntu/2006-03/msg00205.html>

---

- From: "Patrick Siglin" <poison@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Thu, 2 Mar 2006 20:19:29 -0600
-

oops ok nevermind. I guess that didn't fix anything then.

---
poison@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

----- Original Message -----
From: Ewan Mac Mahon <ewan@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
To: ubuntu-users@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
Sent: Fri, 3 Mar 2006 02:12:02 +0000
Subject: Re: Syslog server

On Thu, Mar 02, 2006 at 10:56:08PM +0000, Ewan Mac Mahon wrote:

On Thu, Mar 02, 2006 at 03:51:05PM -0600, Patrick Siglin wrote:

Using outlook again is it still messing things up?

Better thanks; it's setting the in-reply-to header now, so the message is correctly threaded with the others. What did you change to get it to do that - I know other outlook users that could do with doing the same thing?

Actually, ignore all this - it's utter rubbish. Outlook was behaving fine the whole time. /I/ stuffed that up. Sorry for the unwarranted finger pointing.

You still need to put your replies after the thing you're replying to though, so the conversation flows in order - questions followed by answers rather than the other way around.

This, on the other hand is still a good idea :-)

Ewan

Re: Syslog server

----- End of Original Message -----

--

ubuntu-users mailing list

ubuntu-users@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

<https://lists.ubuntu.com/mailman/listinfo/ubuntu-users>