

Re: DVD-R

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Mailing-Lists/Ubuntu/2006-10/msg00047.html>

- From: Dieter Schicker <dieter.schicker@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 01 Oct 2006 22:43:43 +0200
-

Brian Beattie wrote:

On Sun, 2006-10-01 at 21:51 +0200, Dieter Schicker wrote:

Hi,

I'm trying to burn data to a DVD-R with Nautilus. It tells me

```
<snip>
The following disc types are supported:
CD-R, CD-RW, DVD+R, DVD+RW
</snip>
```

How can I burn a DVD-R?
^

With a different drive.

Ok. ;-)

Though why do you want to burn DVD-R and not a DVD+R, any DVD reader should be able to read it.

Because I have 100 blank DVD-R disks and I don't want to throw them away ... Ok, I will reactivate my old DVD writer which could write DVD-R disks.

=> Thilo: Thanks, I should have known that but it seems I'm getting old ...

```
cat /proc/sys/dev/cdrom/info gives me
<snip>
Can write DVD-R: 0
</snip>
```

So, everything is clear now.

Re: DVD-R

Thanks for your help
Dieter

--

ubuntu-users mailing list

ubuntu-users@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

<https://lists.ubuntu.com/mailman/listinfo/ubuntu-users>