I have this router and it works great. But I didn't change my firmware. I am using version 1.39.2, Oct 09 2001. As I understand it AT&T had a chat with linksys about their routers doing NAT and consealing users having more than one computer. This might be true or not but the newer routers say AT&T approved,or at lest they did the last time I looked. The difference is in the firmware. Why don't you try changing the firmware to 1.39.2 and see if your problem goes away.
