

Re: Saving the state of Firefox on hibernation

---

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/alt.os.linux/2006-03/msg00468.html>

---

- From: Vahis <waxborg@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 21 Mar 2006 23:08:06 +0200
-

Guybrush Threepwood wrote:

On Tue, 21 Mar 2006 19:00:04 +0200, Vahis wrote:

bobrics wrote:

Is there a way to save the state of Firefox when shutting down or hibernating a laptop, so that when you start it again, it would be contain the same open page

An extension called Tab Mix Plus takes care of that and in addition a lot of other useful stuff.

Another option is the SessionSaver extension.

I was using that one before. Never looked back after finding Tab Mix Plus

Vahis

—

No dual or multi booting, every OS runs simultaneously. FAQ:

<http://waxborg.servepics.com/mobile/articles/vmware.html>

Playing multimedia in SUSE 10.0:

<http://waxborg.servepics.com/English/Linux/susemultimedia.en.html>

.