

Re: Yet another OS

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/alt.os.linux/2007-02/msg00833.html>

- From: "Mercury" <nobody@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 20 Feb 2007 19:16:21 -0500
-

"Davorin Vlahovic" <nrubA@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:slrnetmsto.j6p.nrubA@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

That being said, we don't care if you find it offensive if someone calls you a noob. Heck, you can't even set up a monitor in X or see if your system runs with full DMA on external storage.

What the hell are you talking about?

Sure, blame the OS that can be configured to run as fast (or as slow in your case) as user wants it to be.

I blame the OS when it needs configuration for something I expect it to do out of the box.

.