

Re: Uterm 0.9 – A Unicode / UTF–8 Terminal Emulator

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.os.linux.development.apps/2003-08/0161.html>

phil-news-nospam_at_ipal.net

Date: 08/13/03

Date: 13 Aug 2003 15:18:34 GMT

On 11 Aug 2003 12:03:35 GMT John Palmisano <johnpaul@jnp.kom> wrote:

| Uterm is a Unicode/UTF–8 Terminal Emulator for the Linux FrameBuffer Console
| supporting a large character set.

|

| It is patterned after kon and jfbterm, popular and current terminal emulators
| supporting the Chinese/Japanese/Korean character sets.

|

| Please see <http://members.ispwest.com/hanpaul/uterm.html> for more info.

I need one that runs under X Windows since I don't use frame buffer console.

Any suggestions? I want one that does not depend on integrating the fonts into X, but instead, includes its own fonts.

--

| Phil Howard KA9WGN | <http://linuxhomepage.com/> | <http://ham.org/> |
| (first name) at ipal.net | <http://phil.ipal.org/> | <http://ka9wgn.ham.org/> |
