

Re: exception-handlers

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.os.linux.development.system/2004-10/0055.html>

From: Måns Rullgård (mru_at_mru.ath.cx)

Date: 10/03/04

Date: Sun, 03 Oct 2004 00:11:19 +0200

"Scott J. McCaughrin" <sjmccaug@bluestem.prairienet.org> writes:

> Does Linux have a way to let me trap the real-time interrupt > for INT 4Ah (the user-definable alarm responding to INT 70h > RTC signals), so I can install my own handler in user-mode?

Does writing a kernel module qualify as a way?

--

Måns Rullgård
mru@mru.ath.cx