Greetings all, im having a bit of trouble getting X to fire up correctly. Right now when i run it, all im getting is a white screen.

From the research ive done on the inet it appears that the trident driver was not supported until version 4.2, which is all well and good because that is what i have. however as much as i tinker with XF86Config no matter what Depth, or resolution i still get the white screen. can someone please give me a hand? Thanks.

Adam.
