

Re: Writing an OS

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/comp.os.linux/2004-11/0036.html>

From: Andrew Balmos (abalmos) (please_at_see.sig)

Date: 11/04/04

Date: Thu, 04 Nov 2004 10:10:28 +0000

On Thu, 04 Nov 2004 14:07:18 +0100, Sybren Stuvél wrote:

>> <snip>

>> Ideally, I would want to write one in C++ as that's my main language >> of choice (plus, I've ever even looked at C) what is your opinion on >> this?

>> <snip>

You are going to want to use C. There are many reasons, google groups about Linus and C++ in the kernel. C is not much different from C, its just no OO and there are other minor differences. I would expect you could learn C pretty fast if you are fluent in C++.

--

Andrew Balmos (abalmos)

abalmos [/@t\] gmail [/dot\] _remove_this_ [/com\]

Posted Via Usenet.com Premium Usenet Newsgroup Services

 SPEED  RETENTION  COMPLETION  ANONYMITY **

<http://www.usenet.com>