Hi all,

I'm a newbie too, and I have just installed redhat 9 on my pc. On a 900mhz ancient pc , it works like a charm. It can access my network computers faster than my 2.4 pentium which is running winxp, so i was very impressed by that straight away.

I'm experimenting with wine right now, seeing what I can figure out. It all seems very confusing, but that is half the fun – to tinker around and see what you can get working!

just my thoughts, but i figured I would make them known :)

cheers,

Hayward
