

Re: Newbie has Q's for the Group

Source: <http://linux.derkeiler.com/Newsgroups/linux.redhat.misc/2003-10/0445.html>

From: Dave Millen (postmaster_at_[127.0.0.1])

Date: 10/17/03

Date: Fri, 17 Oct 2003 15:05:24 +0100

On Fri, 17 Oct 2003 14:36:54 +0200, NobodyHome wrote:

<snip>

- > as I asked in the original text : "One last 'Q', assuming that the prob.
- > can be resolved, how can I change the
- > 'fstab' to include the new file system / drive / partition?" – and to
- > (auto)mount at boot time?

Assuming /dev/sdc1 is your ntfs partition /scsi is your mountpoint, putting the following into /etc/fstab.....:

```
/dev/sdc1 /scsi ntfs defaults 0 0
```

...should do it. If you want to eliminate the risk of writing by accident, change defaults to ro.

Regards,
Dave